Fears spike over poison drink threat

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

AT least four women have fallen victim to drink spiking in pubs and clubs in Dunstable in just a few months, it has emerged.

Luton on Sunday has spoken to an employee at one of the affected pubs who said it was 'happening more and more frequently'.

The worker, who wishes to remain anonymous, said they knew of a woman whose drink was spiked after she and her friends were approached by someone who made them 'feel uncomfortable'.

Bedfordshire Police are currently investigating four reports involving women who became unwell after having a night out in Dunstable on January 31.

Detective Sergeant Sandra Evans said the force's enquiries led them to 'believe that in each case the women were victims of drink spiking'.

The bartender said: "It's happening more and more frequently. I know of people that it's happened to in the past few months and I have never been made aware of it until the past three to six months.

"We had a telephone call from someone asking if our pub was okay because somebody had their drink spiked and had to go to hospital.

"Also, one of my colleagues was on a night out and her drink was spiked and they went for a ride in a car.

"In total I am aware of three cases. The woman who called the pub had not had any alcohol to drink. She explained that someone had come to the table and had made them feel uncomfortable.

"Later on the woman had started to feel funny and her friends took her to hospital."

The bartender added that her colleague had woken up 'in the middle of nowhere' but luckily managed to find help from a nearby house.

Tom Fleming, manager of Unique nightclub in High Street North and chairman of the Dunstable Pub Watch group said the police had been in touch with bars in the area about the issue.

He also said one of his regular customers told him her drink had been spiked while out at a different place.

Mr Fleming said: "We have precautions in place so if someone feels they have been spiked, we have swabs we can use to check if their drink has been spiked.

"I think you will find that it's a countrywide problem, not just in the local area. I remember there was one incident that took place seven months ago at a place I used to work.

"Within our venue we also search people but there's only so much you can do.

"Spiking is something that more people should be made aware of because there are people out there that want to spike other people's drinks."

Public complaints against the police doubles in a year

BY KATHRYN CAIN
 editor@lsnmedia.co.uk

THE number of complaints made against our police force last year was almost double that of the national average.

In 2013/14 the total number of complaints made against Bedfordshire Police increased by 29 per cent compared to a national increase of 15 per cent for England and Wales according to statistics issued by the Independent Police Complaints Commission.

The rise follows an increase of 19 per cent in the force's recorded complaints in 2012/13.

In 2013/14 a total of 751 allegations were made against the force.

Per 1,000 employees they recorded 333 allegations, compared to 251 for all forces in England and Wales.

Meanwhile 38 per cent of appeals from the public against Bedfordshire Police were upheld by the IPCC, compared with an 18 per cent upheld rate for those considered by the force itself.

The IPCC upheld six of 12 appeals where people were unhappy that Bedfordshire Police had not recorded their complaint.

Across England and Wales most grievances involve allegations that an officer has been neglectful or failed in their duty, or that an officer's behaviour has been uncivil, impolite or intolerant.

Beds Police Assistant Chief Constable Nigel Trippett said:

"Our officers and staff work extremely hard, often in difficult circumstances to protect people and fight crime with the single aim of keeping all of our communities across Bedfordshire safe."

"While we accept that officers may not always get it right, we are committed to challenging and dealing with anybody who falls short of the standards we expect, and we must continuously strive to improve our service."

Location of 'new cops' revealed

THE base for new officers which would be paid for by a proposed council tax raise has been revealed by the county's Police and Crime Commissioner.

Olly Martins (pictured) said 25 full-time PCs would be stationed in Luton, 20 in Bedford and 30 in Central Bedfordshire should the public support his plans to raise the amount of council tax paid towards policing by 15.8 per cent - 48p a week for a Band D house (the average property). The remaining 25 officers would go towards tackling issues such as child sexual exploitation and cyber-crime.

Mr Martins was due to present his plans to the Police and Crime Panel this week.

He is currently consulting on the plans and said latest indications show that more than 50 per cent of respondents support the increase.

BIN BOAST: Abu has been posting on Twitter about his time in Syria

ISIS recruit boasts about 'regular bin collections'

A LUTON ISIS recruit has attempted to justify the actions of Islamic State by claiming it provides regular bin collections to people under its control.

Abu Rahin Aziz, 32, formerly of Hazelbury Crescent, Luton, is reported to have tweeted: "Did you know? The #Islamicstate is so barbaric & their streets filthy, they have regular cleaning services. Bin collection, street cleaning."

ISIS recently burnt alive the captured Jordanian pilot, Moaz al-Kassasbeh, and executed two Japanese men, journalist Kenji Goto and Haruna Yukawa.

On his Twitter account, Aziz said the Jordanian pilot

'got what he deserved'. Aziz joined ISIS last March after skipping bail for stabbing a football fan in the head with a pen.

Over the last few weeks Twitter has shut down a number of extremist accounts.

The crackdown included three accounts which Aziz had been using since he fled to Syria.

At the time, a spokesman for Twitter said: "We do not comment on individual accounts, for privacy and security reasons."

"All reported accounts are reviewed against our rules, which prohibit direct, specific threats of violence against others."

Join the jet set to NYC

... IF you have a spare £1,000 kicking about in your bank account, that is.

London Luton Airport is to offer direct flights to America for the first time in seven years.

French boutique airline, La Compagnie, is to launch business class trips to New York City (NYC) from Luton Airport from April 25.

It will initially offer three-weekly round trip services with the aim of providing daily flights by the end of the year.

Silverjet, the last airline to offer flights to New York from Luton, folded in 2008 less than two years after its first trip. Tickets have already gone on sale and 'special launch fares' are available from £1,007 for two persons travelling together, including all taxes, for the first 500 clients.

Single travellers have to pay £649 for a round trip, including all taxes, during this introduction of La Compagnie's new services.

Nick Barton, Luton Airport's CEO, said: "We are delighted that La Compagnie has chosen London Luton Airport for its new business class service to New York."

"The announcement comes at an exciting time for London Luton with record passenger numbers achieved in 2014."

PAINTING THE TOWN: Dame Esther Rantzen

BY JULIA SUTTON
editor@lsmmedia.co.uk

FORMER Luton South parliamentary candidate Dame Esther Rantzen was on hand to officially open the town's NSPCC centre this week.

The facility, in Adelaide Street, runs a number of services for children and young people who have suffered sexual abuse or have been or are at risk of being sexually exploited.

Dame Esther was joined by Luton's mayor Cllr Mohammed Farooq, NSPCC chief executive Peter Wanless and the Police and Crime Commissioners for Bedfordshire and Hertfordshire.

NSPCC Luton service centre manager, Alison Stewart-Ross, said: "It's great to be officially opening the Luton Service Centre. "We started delivering our services last year and we are particularly pleased to be extending Letting the Future In to include children with learning disabilities as these young people are often overlooked in the provision of services.

"We are committed to protecting children affected by sexual abuse and we hope the centre will be a base where children can feel safe and protected."

"But we know that we cannot work alone. "By forming close links with statutory agencies and other vital stakeholders, we aim to ensure that learning from our services has a long-term impact for children and young people."

Ruby's has poor rating removed

THE owner of a restaurant given a bad food hygiene rating which belonged to the site's previous management has said he was 'shocked' when he found out.

Luton Borough Council has now removed the 1/5 rating given to Ruby's Restaurant, in Guildford Street, which was issued to a restaurant formerly on the site.

Ruby's owner Malu Lusadisu, 30, said: "I was kind of disappointed more than anything because it's not fair on me for them to rate me like that without getting the facts straight and when they haven't inspected me."

"I just want us to work together to make this the best place it can be."

Failed school gets £180k cash fund

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

A TRUST behind a failed free school received £180,000 in government funding, it has been revealed.

Luton Girls' Academy was due to open in September this year but it has been axed by the Department for Education (DfE) for making 'insufficient progress'.

Responding to a question posed by Luton South MP Gavin Shuker, DfE undersecretary Edward Timpson said the Ace Trust, which was behind the project, had 'received two PDG payments amounting to £180,000 and the department will take steps to recover any unspent funds'.

He also said the DfE had spoken to Luton Borough Council on January 14 about 'potential implications'

ABANDONED: The proposed site for the girls' school withdrawing support and funding for the proposed school.

The Ace Trust had said the school would provide an initial 120 places for Year 7 pupils in 2015/16, rising to 840 students across Years 7-13 by 2021.

On its website it had identified a site in Kingsway, Luton, as its preferred location. When Luton on Sunday contacted the Trust, Adeola Sonola, who is one of its directors, said a media statement would soon be published regarding the matter.

Mr Shuker said: "Basically, the government decided they were determined to get a free school in Luton so that they could demonstrate that they could provide one in an area that needs school places."

"We have a massive need for school places but we are preventing the local authority from building them."

"The sad reality is that for the parents and students affected they are going to have to put up with what they are given."

"But longer term, if the government feel that we do need to have schools in place then I will be pushing for the local authority to do that."

WORKING TOGETHER: The L&D team has built links with local councils and community service providers

L&D's top results are a team effort

BY CARL MUNGAZI
carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

'TEAM work' and an 'integrated approach' to dealing with patients are among the reasons Luton & Dunstable Hospital's A&E department is among the best performing in the country, a hospital manager has said.

Sally Shaw, who leads part of the hospital's Integrated Discharge Team, said that team work was the reason it consistently achieved its waiting hours target.

Weekly figures, released by the NHS, show that L&D is among the hospitals where more than 95 per cent of patients did not spend more than four hours in the A&E department.

The L&D's performance was recently highlighted in a television interview in which a consultant at the hospital praised Mrs Shaw's team. Their work includes dealing with GP referrals to ensure patients are treated in the right place.

Mrs Shaw said: "I think we've done well because we have an integrated approach and we work closely with and have developed our local networks. We value the people that we work with so our team is very enjoyable to work in. There are not many integrated teams in the country and we have had teams from other hospitals coming to see us."

Mr Kirby, who is a consultant in emergency medicine at L&D, said: "We really do appreciate how the integrated discharge team helps the emergency department perform - without the whole team helping, the department really becomes blocked at the front."

Cloudy2Clear Windows – Service With A Smile!

ADVERTISEMENT

It's been a crazy few months for Cloudy2Clear Windows. The company which specialises in repairing windows which are steamed up, broken or damaged by replacing the panes – not the frames has grown rapidly as homeowners take advantage of their services.

Managing Director Tom Bliss feels that it's all about service. "Our product is simple. If your double glazing is misted up we can replace the glass at a fraction of the cost of a new window, in any type of frame, and with a new 10 year guarantee. But it's not just about saving people money, although that obviously helps. Many tradespeople have struggled since last year and I honestly feel that during the good times a minority perhaps didn't focus on customer care as much as they should have done. We make sure we turn up when we say we will, do the job the customer requires and leave their house as clean as a whistle. I often get comments back from customers on how they really didn't expect that sort of service which, in a way, is very sad for the service industry as a whole."

Cloudy2Clear service the Luton, Dunstable and Stevenage areas and Tom is finding that his approach is a major factor in his success.

"The truth is that it's not just the personal satisfaction that I get from doing a good job but also it makes good business sense. I get a huge amount of business from friends and family of people I've done work for, which just goes to show how much a little bit of effort is appreciated."

Dealer jailed for hit hid his drug profits

BY JULIA SUTTON
editor@lsmmedia.co.uk

A CONVICTED drug dealer who ordered a hit on his accountant love rival was back in court on Monday to admit hiding the profits.

Shahzad Mahroof (pictured), 29, was jailed for life in August last year for conspiring to murder Atif Ali, then 27, who was maimed in a shooting in Leicester Road, Luton, in May 2013.

On Monday he appeared again in the dock at Luton Crown Court, alongside his taxi driver father Mohammed Mahroof, 52, mother Sophia Begum, also 52, and his brother Mumtaz Mahroof, 24. The whole family live in Selbourne Road, Luton.

Shahzad pleaded guilty to concealing criminal property worth £10,915.

Mumtaz pleaded guilty to possessing criminal property to the value of £10,730.

Mohammed pleaded guilty to using criminal property in the form of cash in June 2012 to carry out home improvements. The prosecution accepted Sophia's not guilty pleas to concealing criminal property.

Prosecutor Neil King said in 2009 Shahzad was jailed for 45 months for possessing cocaine and heroin with intent to supply. When he became a suspect in the Mr Ali shooting, the family address was searched, on May 20, 2013.

Mr King said: "In the kitchen the police found £1,000 in cash in an envelope in a cupboard. The cash was tainted with cocaine. In Mumtaz's room, £2,250 was found in a pillow case on his bed. In another pillow case there was an old balaclava. Under the mattress there was a knife in a sheath."

Police returned to the house on July 19, 2013.

Scales, three drug dealer 'tick' lists and a set of silver knuckle dusters were seized along with more cash from around the house totalling more than £18,000 - some of which was tainted with cocaine.

Mr King said: "The crown's case is that this is Shahzad's drugs money that he has hidden about the house."

He said Mohammed earned £6k-£8k as a taxi driver while his wife received child benefit, but Mr King said at the address police found chandeliers, new kitchen units and a 63-inch TV. An extension built in 2011 was estimated to have cost £18k.

Sentencing was adjourned while reports are prepared on Mohammed and Mumtaz who are both of previous good character.

All three are due to be sentenced in the week of March 2.

A confiscation hearing will be heard at a later date.

COSTLY: The operation cost around £1,9k per protestor

Force billed £23k for EDL protest

AN EDL protest in the town attended by 12 people cost the police more than £20,000, it has been revealed. Bedfordshire Police said the rally on December 31 last year had cost £23,111 compared to an average day policing in Luton.

A police spokesman said they had worked 'with all parties involved in the demonstration to ensure we had sufficient resources in place to facilitate peaceful protest'.

Deadline for speedy internet is extended

BY KATHRYN CAIN
editor@lsmmedia.co.uk

THE closing date for a tendering process to provide countywide superfast internet has been set back after just one company made a bid for the contract.

Central Bedfordshire Council, which is handling the process on behalf of itself, Bedford Borough, Luton and Milton Keynes, has extended the tender deadline from the beginning of this month. Although Fujitsu is in frame, BT is likely to be the only bidder for the £7.5 million contract which would see superfast broadband provided to most parts of the county.

However not everyone stands to benefit from the project as many smaller areas around Sundon, and Toddington won't see speedy internet any time soon.

Toddington Councillor Tom Nicols said: "I would certainly like to see Sundon developed more quickly. I do not know why we are one of the last villages to be dealt with.

"I have had no indication that work is being done to treat my ward and Sundon particularly seriously."

A spokesman for Central Beds Council said: "There has been a slight delay due to requirements to undertake additional modelling to ensure that local resources are targeted to local needs within each authority."

Lorry crashes through M1 barrier and collides with car

MOTORISTS had to sit for hours in traffic earlier this week after collision occurred on the motorway.

The M1 was closed in both directions between Junction 12 and 13 for several hours and the speed limit was dropped to 40mph.

The lorry had been travelling southbound and had gone through the central reservation on to the northbound carriageway, colliding with a car. Two people needed hospital treatment after the incident.

Bedfordshire Police are investigating the collision and have asked for any witnesses to come forward.

Anyone with information can contact the police on 101 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555 111.

'Disappointment' over bus changes

BY CARL MUNGAZI

carl.mungazi@lutononsunday.co.uk

A COLLEGE principal has said he is 'disappointed' with the timescale given for responses to a consultation on changes to bus services in the town.

Chris Nicholls, from Luton Sixth Form College, said he hopes to meet with Arriva to discuss its changes, which include splitting the 24/25 route used by many students to get to the college's Bradgers Hill Road site.

The consultation began on January 27 and ended on Thursday.

A spokeswoman for Arriva said it 'accepted' the consultation could have been longer.

Mr Nicholls said: "We're disappointed with the short timescale Arriva has given to respond to the proposed changes.

"We did our best to publicise the consultation to our students and encourage them to give their feedback in the week or so given. We're always a bit wary about any changes which may potentially have an adverse impact on our students.

"Many use the bus to get to and from college, although it's too early for us to assess the full effects these proposals may have.

"We're hoping to sit down with representatives from Arriva in the next week to digest their plans and get more information about the impact they may have on our students."

InterviewLuton

GROWING up in his Spanish hometown of Albacete, 26-year-old Victor Campayo never thought he would one day live outside his country.

He spent his childhood in Albacete playing with friends and family, going to school and enjoying the life of what he says was a 'small, quiet town'.

When he turned 18 he left home for the first time and went to university in Madrid where he completed a degree in journalism.

During his studies he did an internship at a TV station in his hometown and after graduating, returned home and did a second internship at another station.

Unfortunately, the station was unable to take him on full-time so Victor began looking for job opportunities in England.

After five months of searching he found work as an au pair in Luton for a year before moving to The Hampton by Hilton Hotel, where he has been working since.

What was it like growing up in Albacete?

Victor says: "It was quite a good childhood in a small, quiet town. It is not as big as CARL MUNGAZI is on a mission to uncover the hidden stories of Luton. His aim: to interview at least one person from every nationality represented in the town.

Madrid, for example, where I studied for six years.

"I had my own friends in my neighbourhood and from my school, and I had everything near my house, like the park. As a child that was better for me than living in a big city like Madrid.

"I have friends there and they say that they don't have as many friends because some of their friends live very far from them, so living in a town like Albacete was really good."

Moving away was something Victor always wanted to do. His first move was to Madrid for university, and this was followed by the move to Luton.

However, finding work was not easy.

"For men it is really difficult to find a job as an au pair and it took me five months to find a family," he says.

"I know some girls who found a family in one week or two weeks but for me it was more difficult."

Victor had three job interviews in five months and it was on the last one he was hired to work for a family in the town.

But leaving Albacete wasn't easy.

"Something happened to me when I left," he says.

"Before I got on the train at Albacete station to go to Madrid for the flight to Luton, I finally realised just what I was about to do.

"Although I was sure that I wanted to come here, when I was saying bye to my mum - and at that time you don't know when you are going to see her or your family - I started to cry and say that I didn't know when I was going to come back to visit.

"The whole journey to Madrid I was crying and one woman in the train asked me what was wrong.

"I said it was because I was going to travel to another country and I didn't know when I was coming back.

"She started talking to me and being very kind to me.

"She calmed me."

Initially, Victor says he didn't like Luton, but as time went by he grew fond of it and made friends whom he said were instrumental in helping him find work and housing. Victor says his friends think he is 'crazy' because of the time he has spent away from Spain.

However, although he admits to missing family and having moments of homesickness, Victor says he has not placed limits on where he could end up.

"It would depend on the job and what they offer but I don't normally think about that, I don't know what I'm going to do tomorrow," he says.

"I just know what I'm thinking now and my ideas now.

"Maybe in a couple of days I might think that I want to move to another country and learn a new language - I am crazy that way.

"My friends said that I am crazy.

"They don't know why I have been here for so long and they ask me if I don't want to go back to be with them and my family.

"I said yes, of course, but I'm living here now and I've got my life here and my job here, so I don't think about anything else.

"Sometimes I am sad and I want to be there but then I think everything is here now.

"So yes, why not? Maybe in the future I might want to move to the United States of America or South America."

BETTER ABOUT: Mariska Demmers with one of Redborne Biology Club's discoveries

Biology club dives into the record books with rare find

A SCHOOL biology club has recorded a first for the county after students spotted a rare water beetle.

Three out of the six British great diving beetles were discovered during a series of outings on Flitwick Moor by Redborne Upper School's Biology Club. The rarest of these was a pair of wasp-bellied great diving beetles (pictured). Garth Foster, Wildlife Trust recording scheme organiser, has confirmed they are a first for the county.

Club organiser, Dr Kathryn Juty, said: "These and other recent arrivals make Bedfordshire an exciting place to record insects."

£2k is offered in hunt for gunmen

BY JULIA SUTTON
editor@lsmmedia.co.uk

A £2,000 reward is being offered for information about a shooting in Marsh Farm.

The victim, a man in his 20s, was shot outside the Nisa Local supermarket in Axe Close at around 6.15pm on December 4.

He was taken to hospital with minor injuries.

Bedfordshire Police believe two men fired a shotgun at him and that the shooting, which followed two violent incidents that week, was a targeted attack 'between groups of people known to each other'.

The cash reward is being offered by independent crime-fighting charity Crimestoppers. Julia Hughes, Crimestoppers regional manager for Bedfordshire, said: "This is a serious crime that requires urgent resolution, someone in the local community must know who these perpetrators are."

"Please be assured that there is nothing to fear by reporting information to Crimestoppers plus you will be doing your bit to help keep your community safe."

"We guarantee your anonymity; no-one will ever know who you are, you will not have to give a statement to the police and you will never have to go to court."

You can contact Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

Let's get ready

BABY, it's cold outside. But that shouldn't stop you treating your loved one to an intimate stroll in the fresh air over Valentine's weekend. Rounded off with a warming beverage in front of a roaring log fire, what better way to spend the most romantic day of the year?

We have put together our top five Bedfordshire pub walks to inspire you topped off with a chance to relax at The Flying Horse in Clophill. This converted barn features a log fire and quirky interior.

■ Turvey circular walk: Another six miler this walk crosses the attractive undulating farmland of the Turvey House estate.

The Three Cranes pub and Ye Three Fyshes pub have kindly agreed to allow parking for walkers who take refreshment there. Please inform the landlord if you intend to leave your car and pop in for a winter warmer featuring plenty of locally sourced produce at either of these top notch locals.

■ Leighton Buzzard canal walks:

There are plenty of options available to couples who fancy a romantic stroll by the canal towpath between Leighton Buzzard and Bletchley.

Take a day out and beat a more ambitious nine-mile path from Woburn to The Grove Lock pub in Leighton Buzzard, or start at the pub and amble beside the canal for a more relaxed approach.

Grove Lock pub has steadily been building a name for itself and features a raised log fire and locally sourced treats.

■ Barton Springs:

Beginning at Barton Library, this peaceful route takes you through the village of Barton-Le-Clay and out into Barton Hills Nature Reserve.

Following the small river that flows through the reserve, the path can get steep at times. But beautiful surroundings and the semi-wild horses that roam the hills will keep you distracted.

The walk can be adapted depending how ambitious you feel but the shortest can

Tempsford Heritage Trail:
Take time out to appreciate some local history with a relaxed stroll around Tempsford's Heritage Trail.

We've seen changes but there's room to do more

LUTON is a vibrant multi-cultural town with many thriving businesses spear-headed by an expanding international airport.

The nature of the town has changed over recent years with the demise of large-scale manufacturing, so the town is constantly rejuvenating itself and changing in order to succeed and prosper.

Labour has a vision for big change in Luton. We want to bring more business and growth in order to be a town with good employment opportunities.

We have made a good start; the airport has grown and will expand even further and faster. We have created the right infrastructure so firms find the town attractive.

The massive improvements on the M1 J10A and the gateway to Luton station are all part of our ambitious plans for big change. We need a range of quality local jobs for local people and we aim to increase employment with 9,500 new jobs by 2020.

Luton Borough Council is proud to be a living wage employer and is encouraging other local employers to follow our example and pay the living wage or better so that people working in Luton earn enough to live and live well.

We need to enable people to develop their skills and obtain quality jobs so we are setting up an exciting new Skills Academy and will be helping local businesses to make more apprenticeships available for our youth.

Our secondary schools have started on the path of change and many have been re-built or refurbished.

We will continue to push up standards so young people obtain even better GCSE results – high above the national average.

There has been a steady increase in attainment over all key stages during the last four years of the Labour council.

The town is short of school places for our children and we will be opening a new secondary school by 2018 along with the recently opened new Riverbank Primary School.

We need to become a healthy town. In 2012 we built Inspire Sports Village – our now famous Olympic swimming pool and we will continue to promote other sports across our town. Good access to green space, countryside and our high quality parks will be maintained.

We need to change the way we look after older people, so Labour will enable them to stay in their own homes and live independently for as long as they want to. Alongside this we will provide day care and respite care in new state-of-the-art centres.

Homes are at the heart of any community, so we will build more housing will aim to make every house in Luton warm and safe – a real home. Over 600 quality new homes will be built at Napier Park.

Our big change will focus on jobs, skills, quality homes and opportunities for local people.

Luton can be a place to live well, work hard and enjoy the richness of life in our town.

Robert's going for a new look with a little help from his old pal Jeeves

THEATRE

JEEVES AND WOOSTER IN PERFECT NONSENSE

Milton Keynes Theatre
April 7-11

ROBERT Webb: comedian, actor and writer; one half of the double act Mitchell and Webb, best known for award-winning sitcom Peep Show.

He's done lots of telly and radio but he's also enjoyed a successful career on the stage that started when he was at Cambridge University and vice-president of its drama club, Footlights (which is, coincidentally, where he first met David Mitchell).

Last year, he starred in Perfect Nonsense, the award-winning West End stage adaptation of the PG Wodehouse novel, The Code of the Woosters.

As Bertie Wooster, the famously sweet-natured but intellectually negligible buff about town, he received excellent reviews.

Now he is reprising the role on tour and the show is coming to MK Theatre this April.

I caught up with Robert before rehearsals started for the new show.

Having just spent four months in the West End splashing around in pools of muddy water in Neville's Island, will it be good to get back on to dry land in Perfect Nonsense? "It's swings and roundabouts because in Devil's Island I have quite long stretches of time off-stage and I don't know what to do with my time.

"In Perfect Nonsense I'm only off for about eight seconds during the course of the evening and I'm rushing about the whole time.

"So it's drier - but plenty of moisture is supplied by me. Neville's Island is all about sitting on crates in stagnant water feeling hungry."

A bit like being in I'm a Celebrity... Get Me Out Of Here then?

"Yes, and I can exclusively reveal that I've already been asked and turned it down!"

You played the part of Bertie in the West End last year. Will it be different after a break of six months?

"It's a different cast with Jason Thorpe and Chris Ryan, (and I'm working with Ade Edmondson in Neville's Island at the moment so I'm working my way through the cast of The Young Ones) so it will influence what I'm doing. But the show is actor-proof, it's so brilliantly put together. It has a life of its own."

Had you read any PG Wodehouse when you were younger?

"I'd read a couple of novels when I was a teenager and they made me laugh a lot. Actually I read the Code of the Woosters on which Perfect Nonsense is based and it's very funny."

You've been pretty busy over the last year with your stage work and you will be touring for a little longer with Perfect Nonsense. But hasn't a final, 9th series of Peep Show been promised?

"Well, I'm only in the first part of the tour so after that, in late spring, I'll have a holiday - or a nervous breakdown (which is probably the same thing).

"Then we'll be recording the final series of Peep Show to be aired in the late autumn."

Did you ever think for one minute that you'd be playing Bertie one day?

"No, I'd only vaguely decided that I wanted to be an actor when I was about 14. I went around saying I wanted to do something in computers which was what everybody expected of a teenage boy then."

Do you like Bertie?

"Yes, I do, even though he's a complete idiot and spends the whole time being totally delighted or utterly terrified. And I insist that the audience love me within the first few minutes too!"

I have a feeling that there's no danger of that not happening, Robert.

Ticket prices range from £11.90-£42.40 and are available from: atgtickets.com/shows/jeeves-and-wooster/milton-keynes-theatre/ or by calling 0844 871 7652.

Night of music with Evva and Emma set to be a classic

MUSIC

LUTON MUSIC CLUB

Luton Library Theatre
Tomorrow, 7.45pm

CLASSICAL music will be ringing through the Library Theatre tomorrow when Polish-Italian duo Evva Mizerska and Emma Abbate come to town.

Evva (on cello) and Emma (on piano) bring with them a wealth of experience in chamber playing and recitals.

Independent Review, the independent British monthly classical music magazine, has described Emma as having 'complete assurance and clear dedication', while another reviewer said the pair 'created a ray of spring sunshine' in one of their performances.

Music lovers of a classical persuasion are being always well catered for with the Music on Mondays sessions. This weekly event is run by Luton Music Club, which has been bringing good music to the town for almost 70 years.

The club has been running since 1946 and in that time it has won many awards and for its programmes, earning it praise from highly esteemed individuals such as English composers Sir William Walton and Sir Lennox Berkeley. For tomorrow's show, concert attendees can expect an 'unusual and revelatory repertoire'. Before the recital an exhibition of musically inspired prints by distinguished Polish photographer Renata Iris Lardner will be opened at the Library Theatre. Tickets cost £15. For bookings call the box office on 01582 878100.

I'm holding out for a Big Hero

FILM

BIG HERO 6

ACTION packed, funny and often touching, Big Hero 6 is the latest animated release from Disney.

This heart-warming comedy adventure follows young robotics genius Hiro Hamada, who spends his time taking part in back alley robot fights in the futuristic city of San Fransokyo.

With help from his older brother, Tadashi, Hiro learns to harness his potential at the university's robotics lab alongside speed junkie Go Go Tamago, neat freak Wasabi, chemistry nerd Honey Lemon and mascot Fred.

But when devastating events throw Hiro into the centre of a masked villain's deadly plot, he activates his brother's robot Baymax and together they set out to save the city.

The first animated film to bring Marvel and Pixar together, Big Hero 6 still holds old fashioned themes head on.

It's both funny and sweet with a sharp witted script that challenges the very conventions of a superhero origin story.

From adorable marshmallow to bad-ass robot, Baymax is truly the film's heart and soul who delivers glorious laugh out loud moments that will entertain kids and adults alike.

Whether he's falling over in a tipsy stupor with a low battery, patching himself up with sticky tape or giving Hiro a much needed hug, Baymax is the true emotional centre of Big Hero 6.

Originally designed as a 'personal health companion', the loveable robot takes on a more heroic roll to fight bad guys and soar over the stunning backdrop of the futuristic San Fransokyo: a clever cultural hybrid of Tokyo and San Francisco.

The story is a seamless blend of genres from superhero, animation and action which pulls in the best bits of each before letting them run wild in spectacular fun-filled fashion.

While it is a little slow to get going, it soon bursts into life with epic car chases, waves of microbots and glorious battle scenes with the ending being the only real let down (but hey, it's such a fun origins story we can let it go).

Packed with stunning visuals, larger than life colours and wondrous designs this feels like a classic Pixar film in the making. Baymax's wobbly face may only be a line and two dots, but the animators still manage to pack an emotional punch when it comes to his touching relationship with Hiro.

Plus as another Marvel revamp make sure you stick around for a fun cameo by Stan Lee...

PRESS RELEASE

JANUARY 2015

Be seen to be sold,
says Connells

With 95% of home movers starting their property search online (YouGov, January 2014), Connells in Luton is advising sellers to choose an estate agency that will maximise the exposure of their property online.

Research shows that unless properties are featured on the two most popular property search websites - identified as Rightmove and Zoopla* - sellers could miss out on up to a third of buyers looking online. 31% of buyers searching for property online didn't visit Rightmove and another 36% didn't visit Zoopla (Source: UKOM Media Tel October 2013) so it pays to go with an agency that places properties on both sites.

"Here at Connells we understand the importance of effectively marketing your property online," says Lee Clark, Branch Manager for Connells in Luton. "It is essential that sellers instruct an agent that provides the best exposure for their property and that it reaches the biggest possible audience. This includes ensuring that their property is being promoted on not just one of the two biggest property websites but on both which of course Connells does."

Customers can rest assured that with Connells their property will be featured on the two most popular and visited property portals - Rightmove and Zoopla (including PrimeLocation)* - as well as on the Connells network of websites.

Lee continues: "It's clear to see that those homes that get less exposure therefore get less viewings and interest. We are committed to providing the best service to our customers and this includes putting their home in front of as many potential buyers as possible."

If you have a property to sell and would like to arrange a free market appraisal on your home, contact the local Connells branch on 01582 450999 or email: Luton@connells.co.uk

LEADING FROM THE FRONT?

BMW always said it wouldn't go front-wheel drive but it's caved in with the 2 Series Active Tourer. It also marks a first foray into the compact MPV market and goes head to head with the Mercedes B-Class. Certain things are traditional BMW. A lot of money's been spent on engines and chassis development.

The 2 Series Active Tourer launches with a choice of three transversely-mounted engines developed from the same modular source. Even the entry level petrol engine has a bit of zip to it, the 136PS 1.5-litre three-cylinder 218i getting to 62mph in less than 10 seconds. Step up to the 2.0-litre four-cylinder turbo engine in the 225i and you're looking at a 231PS unit that's got some real punch. Give this one the full beans and 62mph will vanish in just 6.8 seconds. Maybe the 2 Series badge wasn't such an aberration. Should you prefer something a bit more sedate, try the 150 PS 2.0-litre diesel in the 218d.

Just because this vehicle drives the front wheels doesn't mean that BMW has decided to go on a manic cost-cutting frenzy. Where you might expect to find a compact torsion beam rear suspension, BMW has instead fitted a much more complex and expensive multi-link rear end. It's almost as if the Bavarians are overcompensating for something. The 2 Series Active Tourer also benefits from a chassis where weight has been taken out where possible with the use of ultra-high strength steels in key stress points. The result is that the kerb weight of the 218i is a mere 1,320kg. That's only two kilos more than a 1.4-litre Vauxhall Meriva. A six-speed manual comes as standard, but there are six-speed and eight-speed automatics on offer.

This is a compact MPV and as such, it's fairly inevitable that the basic shape is going to be somewhat generic. Cover the badges and grille and most would probably identify this as a Mercedes. The details are nicely executed, but this remains one of the more conservative designs. Compared to something like a Citroën C4 Picasso, this one's very toned down. Some of the most fascinating aspects of this car's execution aren't immediately obvious. The three-cylinder 1.5-litre petrol engine also sees service in vehicles as diverse as the BMW i8 hybrid supercar and the MINI. Ignore the 2 Series name for a bit as this car doesn't share its underpinnings with the 2 Series Coupe. Instead, it runs on a lengthened version of the MINI chassis with the wheelbase extended to 2,670mm.

If you're a rear-wheel drive BMW fundamentalist, the 2 Series Active Tourer will have you frothing at the mouth but then the X5 probably did the same when that was first launched and look how significantly that vehicle has contributed to the Munich maker's bottom line. In many regards, it was BMW themselves that were responsible for perpetuating a dogmatic engineering-led line and it's one they now have to chew through a lot of humble pie in order to move forward.

The 2 Series Active Tourer is a vehicle this brand needs to make. It's been blowing budget developing models that appeal to minuscule sub-niches without addressing a major market. That's largely due to the fact that in order to exploit the MPV sector, it needed a front-wheel drive car and it needed to overcome that awkward moment. That seems to have happened: the 2 Series Active Tourer is here, it looks good and we all need to move on. It's a new era for BMW and one that will only be good for UK customers.

HATTERS

LEAGUE TWO
OXFORD UNITED	1
LUTON TOWN	1

FAMILIARITY will rarely feel as comforting for Luton.

After the long-awaited goal-fest of last week the Hatters settled back into that most recognisable of post-Christmas results – a draw.

A point has been the plunder from five of their last seven league games. At times, that has been a frustrating return but, in Oxford, a goal apiece flattered them.

At least one of their strikers found the net for the first time in League Two since November 29 as Jayden Stockley opened his account to celebrate his loan extension and raise hopes of a classic away-day smash-and-grab. That feeling lasted seven minutes before Johnny Mullins swivelled on a cross just before half time.

Town goalscorer Stockley said: "I was impressed with Oxford. I definitely see it as a point gained. We came here, didn't play our best football but we dug in deep and, where a lot of teams may have lost, we picked up a valuable point."

Manager John Still added: "I'm happy with the performance and I'm happy with the result. We've lost five games this season so I'm happy with that. I thought they [Oxford] looked quite strong and I thought we were competitive."

True, Town rarely capitulate and they are now eight games unbeaten. But with so many draws, it doesn't take a genius to see that they need to get a run of victories to make up the four points that now separates them and the three automatic promotion places.

Ryan Hall was signed last weekend to help the Hatters find the goal touch but, on his debut, the winger's best bit was crammed into the first six minutes – slamming a close range shot at advancing keeper Ryan Clarke.

Boss Still admitted that, had it not been for Scott Griffiths' illness, Hall wouldn't have started, insisting the 27-year-old has to get up to speed after so little action at Rotherham.

But Oxford dominance was the dish of the day. First to the ball, they tackled, passed and moved better than the visitors and, if Callum O'Dowda and Patrick Hoban had capitalised on the counter, it could have been game, set and match by half time.

Intuitive sweeper work from Steve McNulty and a save from Mark Tyler kept United at bay.

Against the run of play, Town took the lead on 36 minutes during their only period of first half pressure and when Shaun Whalley picked out Stockley the striker guided in off the post, in slow-motion fashion.

But just before the break, United levelled when Mullins stroked home on the turn and it

Luton ease out Old Priorians & Dees win again

RUGBY UNION

BY TIM BARTLETT
sport@lsnmedia.co.uk

LUTON RFC made it three wins on the bounce in London One North yesterday, beating Old Priorians 20-13 at Newlands Road and going some way to avenging the 41-22 hammering they received when the clubs met in the reverse fixture back in October.

In Midlands Two East South, Dunstablians dug out a hard-fought 8-3 victory against Market Harborough to record back-to-back wins for the first time this season.

The Dees now sit eight points from safety at the foot of the table with seven games remaining.

"We need another 16 points this year to be safe we reckon," said Dees' prop Simon George. "Or at least give us a chance."

"We've got Stewarts & Lloyds on the final day of the season – they're just above us in the table, so it could be make or break, or, it might be all over for us by then – we're just taking it one game at a time."

Matty Anderson powered the ball over in the corner for Dees' only try of the game following a move that saw the ball pass through most of the team's hands in a 60-yard break out, and although Kev Boland missed the conversion, he made amends from a penalty not long after.

Dees travel to a mid-table Lutterworth side on Saturday, who were beaten 10-5 at Leicester Forest this weekend, where they'll be hoping to make it three from three.

Stockwood Park were unable to make it five straight wins in Midlands Three East South, suffering a 16-10 defeat at the hands of Bedford Queens.

"We were as disappointing this week as we were pleasing last week," said Stockwood President John Humphries. "We responded well in the second half, Carl Jennings and Ben Griffin both scored tries, but we were already 15 points down."

three after Kassam draw

set the tone for one-way traffic after the break, as the hosts poured forward. A frantic five minutes began when Tyler was almost left red-faced by a long range Alex MacDonald drive that trickled towards his arms before taking a horrible bobble off a pitch churned up by rugby tenants London Welsh.

Moments later, goalscorer Mullins passed up a glorious chance to double his and Oxford's lead, heading wide from eight yards without a Luton defender in close proximity.

Hoban made the Luton net bulge on the hour but was adjudged to have been offside as he waited to pounce on Hylton's cross-cum-shot.

Tyler – as he often does when his colleagues are on the ropes – came to Town's rescue twice in succession, gathering up O'Dowda's dangerous flick and then doing what the whole backline couldn't to keep out the newly introduced James Roberts. Town finished with a flourish of sorts as the final whistle drew nearer with loan attacker Nathan Oduwa's weak claim for a penalty ignored after he was barged over in the box. For a Football League debut, however, the Tottenham youngster showed some exciting flashes after his introduction on 59 minutes. Still said: That little bit of pace that Andre [Gray] gave us, the quickness of feet that Alex Lawless gives us and Pelly [Ruddock Mpanzu]'s power and pace – we've missed that a little bit. So for him [Oduwa] to get this game under his belt he'll be a lot better off for that and he's shown he can go past people."

Luton heads were in hands for a split second when Alex Wall's fierce free-kick was saved by Clarke and substitute Mark Cullen stabbed wide the rebound from three yards. His blushes spared by a raised flag for offside.

As singular points go, this was a welcome one, but Town slipped a further point behind the division's top three – Burton, Wycombe and Shrewsbury – who have the frustrating knack of keeping Luton at arm's length.

And, that's a familiar theme that the Hatters must first find a way to match before they can start to combat it.

Dunstable are hit for six by high-flying visitors Hungerford

FOOTBALL

BY NICK SMITH

sport@lsmmedia.co.uk

IN the Southern Premier Division, Dunstable Town were the victims of a home 6-2 drubbing by promotion chasing Hungerford Town.

Goals came thick and fast in the first half and it only took the visitors 10 minutes to break down the Dunstable backline, with James Clark opening the scoring for Hungerford.

The Blues found themselves 4-0 down at the break, with Charlie Mpi, Mark Draycott and former Republic of Ireland international winger Alan O'Brien also finding the net before the half time whistle.

After the restart, Chris Marsh got a goal back for the hosts on 63 minutes, but the visitors soon struck back.

Draycott added his second and Hungerford's fifth just two minutes later.

Jamal McKenzie-Lowe netted Dunstable's second with 77 minutes gone to make the score look more respectable, but the visitors weren't done yet.

Draycott, hungry to complete his hat-trick, added another in the 85th minute to add some gloss onto both his and his team's performance, in what was a totally one-sided affair. Dunstable are now 12th in the league with Hungerford fifth and in the play-off places.

Barton Rovers' trip to Daventry Town was called off at the last minute in the Southern League Division One Central, in a decision labelled 'farical' on the club's Twitter account.

Both teams were warming up and the managers were happy to play, but the referee called the game off after he was not happy with the state of the pitch, with the number of divots being the main issue.

Rovers were in the news on Transfer Deadline Day on Monday when they sold prolific striker Keshi Anderson to Crystal Palace, with the hit-man jumping an incredible seven divisions after the move to the Eagles.

In the Spartan South Midlands Premier Division, AFC Dunstable were denied an away victory at London Tigers thanks to a stoppage time equaliser in a 3-3 draw.

Dunstable opened the scoring, courtesy of a screamer from Jonathan Cooper, but the hosts battled back to take a 2-1 lead in at half time.

After the restart, Dunstable fought back with goals from Chris Francis and Taishan Griffith turning the tie on its head, giving the visitors a 3-2 lead.

However, a late strike for Tigers gave them a share of the spoils in the high scoring match-up.

Jayden takes Stock and eyes more Hatters goals

HATTERS

BY JAMES CUNLIFFE
sport@ltnmedia.co.uk

JAYDEN Stockley opened his account for Luton in a hard-fought 1-1 draw at Oxford and crowed: "Hopefully that's the first of many to come."

On transfer deadline day, the Bournemouth striker extended his Hatters loan for another month and he celebrated by firing Town ahead at the Kassam Stadium against the run of play.

It was his fifth game for the club and he said: "I'm proud to get the first goal out of the way and hopefully I'll get a few more."

It was a classic striker's finish, steering Shaun Whalley's cross past the outstretched fingers of United keeper Ryan Clarke and in off the post.

It seemed to take an age to cross the line and Stockley added: "It felt like an absolute age to get in the goal but as soon as it crossed the line it was a moment of joy. "It's just unfortunate that we didn't hold on to the lead."

Johnny Mullins equalised seven minutes later, just before half time, which was not undeserved as Oxford had dominated proceedings.

Indeed, when Town took the lead in the 36th minute it was the first time they'd put their hosts under the pump.

Stockley said: "That was the first time in the game that we had some sustained pressure so I gambled on a shot-cross from Shaun."

"He can call it what he wants but I managed to poke it goalwards and it crept in the tightest of gaps so I'm very happy about that."

Despite his strike and the fact that he instantly ousted top scorer Mark Cullen from the side on his arrival at Kenilworth Road, Stockley insists he is not looking beyond his current one-month deal.

"I've settled in really well," he said, adding: "I love the area, love the place and the fans are brilliant. It was a no-brainer to extend it. I'm just taking it month by month, game by game, picking up points for Luton and hopefully getting promotion."

Ryan Hall and Tottenham loanee Nathan Oduwa both made their Luton debuts after signing in the last week. The latter – a second half substitute – was the more effective, showing a desire to run at players, but Stockley was impressed with what he saw from both.

He said: "I think they'll give us the pace that we need, especially on the wings, plus the creativity around the box. As a striker, hopefully I can capitalise on that."

"I think both gave a great impression as to what they can give us, going forwards this season, especially our aim to get promoted."

FIRST STRIKE: Jayden Stockley, right, scores his first goal for Luton yesterday.
